

OVERALL FACTORY LEASES BUILDING.

Will Occupy Second and Third Floors
Of Old Opera House Building.

The Monett overall factory has signed a long time lease on the second and third floors of the old opera house building, which is being rebuilt and improved.

This will make quarters sufficiently large for the needs of the rapidly growing business. They will have a room 100 feet by 50 feet, with light and ventilation on three sides. An elevator will be placed in the rear to carry goods up and down. The rooms will be steam heated and comfortable.

The Monett factory does the finishing work for the branch factories in this vicinity and their present quarters have long been inadequate. By getting into larger quarters more machines can be added and their output greatly increased.

The Oberman Manufacturing Company has had the factory established here only a few months, but it has far exceeded the expectations of our citizens. A large force of girls and women is employed and new families are being brought to town to give the members of the family an opportunity to work for this company. The payroll adds to the general prosperity of the community and the women and girls are able to add a substantial sum to the family incomes.

SENIOR—JUNIOR RECEPTION

Monday night at the Catholic Church Auditorium was held the annual Senior-Junior reception of the St. Joseph's High School. Each member of the senior class was met at the entrance by the junior girls who presented them with miniature college caps which the seniors were requested to don and wear for the entire evening. They were then ushered into a spacious, tastefully decorated reception parlor where the ingenuity, resourcefulness and tact of the junior class were manifest at every turn. The green and white floated freely and through a profusion of cut flowers and ferns gleamed "Beyond The Alps Lies Italy."

The evening was spent in various games and dancing; the chief feature of the games was The Automobile Romance, the prize for which, a toy Ford, was won by John Moore. After tripping the light fantastic the seniors were given a glimpse of their future lives through the reading of a very cleverly arranged class prophecy by Miss Gertrude Frossard. At a late hour a one course luncheon was served by the junior girls. The dining room presented a very inviting appearance, the colors of the two classes were blended in the decorations here and a May pole added to the beauty of the table.

While the annual reception always carries with it the note of coming separation and the knowledge that for some at least, the "Commencement" of life's battles has begun, these echoes were not allowed to disturb the serenity and gaiety of this last evening where the seniors and juniors met for the final school frolic. On departing, the seniors through their president, John Johnston, as mouth piece, proclaimed their appreciation of the efforts of the junior class and added the hope that they in turn might receive as they so freely had given to others.

The contrast between the school days of the 20th Century and those of the 18th, especially, foot ball and basketball was so marked as to afford much amusement for the audience.

The musical specialties were a rendition of the well developed talent, especially the violin selection "Thais" by Miss Mary Heyburn which was a rare treat.
